Andrei Sorokin

Frontend developer

Helsinki, Finland

Originally training to become a pilot at a civil aviation university. However, my passion for programming led me to earn a Bachelor's from Bauman Moscow State Technical University, one of the top technical institutions in Russia.

Gained experience through internships as a frontend developer and web developer trainee. To pursue my passion for programming, then firstly relocated to Estonia to study software engineering and then to Finland and worked as a sushi chef while dedicating my free time to honing my coding skills. Valued for problem-solving, quick learning, and determination.

RECENT PROJECTS

TheStore Redux (E-Commerce Website)

JavaScript, React, React Router, Redux, Redux Toolkit, TypeScript, Jest, MUI, UI, UX, Axios, dotenv. Independently built a website with an intuitive interface for product selection, sorting, and filtering by price, name, size, gender and category. Successfully completed the project as a task assigned in Integrify, demonstrating strong technical skills and attention to detail.

TheStore Backend (E-Commerce Website)

Led a team in building a robust backend to create a REST API for an internet store, enabling product search, sorting, and selection by price, name, and category. Implemented individual enhancements to the project post-group collaboration. The project was developed at Integrify. During the project, I also utilized the following technologies: Node.js, REST API, Jest, Express, TypeScript, MongoDB, Mongoose, Postman, Nodemon, Passport, Express-jwt, Express-validator, Jsonwebtoken, Nodemailer, Cloudinary, Cors, Dotenv, and Multer, OAuth.

Dobrocenter

PHP, CSS, HTML, Other, UI, UX, PHPMailer.

DobroCenter is a Russian-speaking center for development and creative leisure for children and adults. Developed a comprehensive organizational website featuring various information, a photo gallery, and enrollment functionality for events. Solely created the project for a Finnish company, adhering to requirements to build it using only pure HTML and CSS without utilizing React or backend technologies.

Bloglist

Cypress, Jest, React, JavaScript, CSS, Node.js, MongoDB, Mongoose, Express.js, Postman

Created an application that allows users to add, delete, and like blogs, with each blog being attributed to its respective creator. Implemented secure functionality that prohibits unauthorized deletion of blogs by non-creators. Independently developed the project as a task assigned in the University of Helsinki's open university program.
